

Background Information

“ Pathways to a Sustainable Food System for a Healthier Tomorrow”

Les L'Assises de L'Agriculture would comprise, inter-alia, a symposium of presentations on diverse agricultural themes, an exhibition on production techniques, equipment and value addition of agricultural products

The Symposium would be a platform to gather local and international stakeholders with a view to sharing experiences as well as discussing on topics such as:

(i) Technology adoption, diversification and boosting production;

Focus would be on new technologies in agriculture, on farming models, leasing models, financing options and insurance models and also economics behind aquaponics.

(ii) Value chains, contract farming, processing and off-takes;

Presentation would comprise of several roundtables, discussions on developing sustainable value chains including processing, contract farming potentials, off- takes.

(iii) Resilience to climate change and best practices.

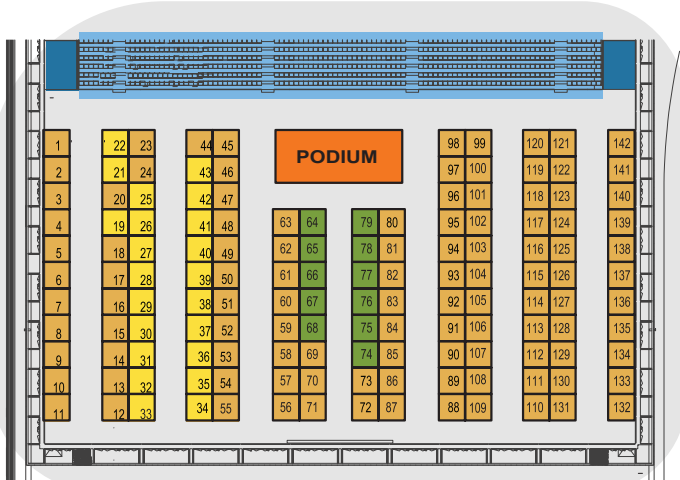

Presentation would be on the effects of climate change in agriculture, the best practices to be adopted in terms of bio and organic farming and how to safely address the challenges arising out of climatic changes.

It would be therefore an opportunity to review our agri-food system and reflect on strategies to be adopted to reduce dependence on imports and increase self-sufficiency in strategic crops.
